If it was easy, everyone would have already pushed that button! Achieving excellence in Reliable Manufacturing is not easy … but it is very profitable. Ron Blohowiak has a long career through multiple industries and has been successful at many places with improving reliability. Reliability Solutions has partnered with Ron on a few of his stops to assist him in his journey to more reliable manufacturing.

In our short time together, Ron and Tom will talk about the common threads that he believes are essential to changing mindsets, approaches, and processes that will certainly make life better at a factory, mill, plant or site. Ron will share with us stories from his life that many of you will easily identify with.

From assessments to skills improvement, the steps taken to advance reliability improvements within Schreiber will be shared. Ron and Tom will talk about the interactions between the companies and how Schreiber Foods is meeting the current demands of improvement. They will discuss the need for dynamic training for technicians, operators, and leaders. Then the importance of having a plan to take it from the classroom to the floor of the plant. The two will also talk about the changes in leadership involvement and processes necessary to improve the reliability within each facility. All of this working together to cause what we like to refer to as the “big change”!

It will be a fun and fast few minutes that will hopefully leave the attendees excited and challenged to move forward with their own journeys.
